

When did John die if he died?

John 21:18-24 (Jesus is speaking to Peter)

- 18 Verily, verily, I say unto thee, When thou wast young, thou girdedst thyself, and walkedst whither thou wouldst: but when thou shalt be old, thou shalt stretch forth thy hands, and another shall gird thee, and carry thee whither thou wouldst not.
- 19 This spake he, signifying by what death he should glorify God. And when he had spoken this, he saith unto him, Follow me.
- 20 ¶ Then Peter, turning about, seeth the disciple whom Jesus loved following; which also leaned on his breast at supper, and said, Lord, which is he that betrayeth thee?
- 21 Peter seeing him saith to Jesus, Lord, and what shall this man do?
- 22 Jesus saith unto him, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? follow thou me.
- 23 Then went this saying abroad among the brethren, that that disciple should not die: yet Jesus said not unto him, He shall not die; but, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee?
- 24 This is the disciple which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things: and we know that his testimony is true.

Jesus spoke to Peter concerning his(Peter's) death and in that context, Peter asked Jesus about John saying, "Lord, and what shall this man do?". Jesus knowing what he was referring to said, "If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? follow thou me." Because of this statement the other disciples believed that John would not die, but John himself pointed out that Jesus did not say that he would never die.

He died at Ephesus, in the third year of Trajan, A. D. 100, being then, according to Epiphanius, ninety-four years of age. He was buried near that city, and several of the fathers mention his sepulcher as being there. — American Tract Society Dictionary

The ancients tell us that John lived longest of all the twelve apostles, and was the only one of them that died a natural death, all the rest suffering martyrdom; — Matthew Henry's Commentary On The Whole Bible

He was the youngest of the apostles when called, and lived to the greatest age, and is the only one who is supposed to have died a peaceful death. — Albert Barnes' NT Commentary

He suffered under persecution, and was banished to Patmos (Re 1:9); whence he again returned to Ephesus, where he died, probably about A.D.

98, having outlived all or nearly all the friends and companions even of his maturer years. — Easton's Bible Dictionary

The very time of his death lies within the region of conjecture rather than of history, and the dates that have been assigned for it range from A.D. 89 to A.D. 120. — Smith's Bible Dictionary
